Deletes an object (a file or folder) from the computer's hard drive. Google Docs is the internet service for anyone who needs to write a document and collaborate on the same document with others. It offers you the ability to create, edit and share documents online. The software is available for Windows, Mac OS X and Android operating systems. The latest version of Google Docs, for Windows, OS X and Android, has great and intuitive features for writers. Using Google Docs on your computer, you can generate and edit documents online. There is also a Google Docs app for Windows, Mac OS X and Android. That means you can view and edit documents online even when you're away from your computer. You can also make changes to the document offline. However, the changes will not be applied online until you connect to the internet again. The Documents tab is the default option you'll see when you open Google Docs. This tab allows you to create a document or select a document from your computer. Editing options in Google Docs are quite similar to Microsoft Office. Users can edit the text, add text boxes, type, highlight and delete text. You can also format the text using different tools. There are also familiar editing tools such as undo, redo, cut, copy, paste and undo. You can add images, formatting, tables and much more. While working on a document in Google Docs, you can collaborate with others using the features of Google Docs. For example, you can mark-up, add comments and add external resources like websites. Google Docs can also be easily integrated with other Google products. For example, you can share a Google document with other Google products. You can also share a Google document with a user via email. This allows the recipient to edit the document in their inbox. Google Docs works offline. You can work on a document offline and you can make changes offline as well. The changes you make will be applied online when you connect to the internet again. If you are a frequent writer, you may prefer the Google Docs app instead of the software. That's because you can easily manage documents in Google Docs directly in the app. You can also save an entire document to Google Drive and easily access it. You can then review the document on any of your devices - even if the document is on a different device. The Google Docs app is also a great solution for business owners who often need to 77a5ca646e
