The man behind the infamous boob blunder at the Olympics in 2012 will never even get to see his beloved football again after a heart attack killed him just two years after he was cleared of rape. Steven Adams was expecting his first child with his fiancee and believed he was healthier than he really was when he started feeling sluggish and confused after a game against France in September. 4 William Adams passed away in August this year after suffering a heart attack Credit: Instagram/@williamadams This morning his friends and family were left devastated by the news that he had died suddenly aged 25. The basketball player was pictured in pictures smiling and posing with his arms around his child's shoulders just a few months earlier, which was then used to prove he was innocent of raping a woman while dressed as a woman in a nightclub. He had been found not guilty of the September 2013 rape after it emerged he was suffering from Asperger Syndrome, a form of autism. 4 The player pictured on top was cleared of rape in 2013, but was pictured with Adams soon after this morning Credit: Instagram/@williamadams The Crown Prosecution Service had accepted his defence that he had panicked after being locked in a dark bathroom with the woman during a drunken night out. However, his life was turned upside down in April 2014 after it emerged the solicitor representing the woman in the case had offered to drop the charges against Adams in return for a payout of £5,000. 4 Steven Adams was pictured left on top at the 2012 Olympics with his fiancee 4 The footballer ended up being cleared of the rape accusation in October this year after the Crown Prosecution Service dropped the case Credit: ITV The man put out a public plea for help just moments before he died in a hospital after suffering a heart attack. A post on his Instagram page said: "I have tried my best to be the best person I can possibly be to people at home and in the world and let them know that I'm not ashamed or embarrassed of who I am. "Please just be happy for me. I honestly don't deserve anything because I've been lucky enough to have people care for me and let me feel normal. "I'm a proud daddy and a proud son and have so much to look forward to and I hope that my son grows up to be a better person than
